

Your Ticket to the New York Fed's
Leading-Edge Research

Dear AEA Member,

The Research and Statistics Group's website is the place to go for dynamic new research by New York Fed economists. There, you'll find topical and academic work in the fields of macro- and microeconomics, banking and finance, payments, international economics, and regional analysis from the Economic Policy Review, Current Issues in Economics and Finance, and Staff Reports—our chief research series. And through the Liberty Street Economics blog, our economists engage with you on timely issues in an informal, reader-friendly style.

Our E-Alert service is your ticket to this wide range of work. By subscribing to the free service, you'll know right away when new publications and blog pieces are posted on our site, and you can access them instantly. To subscribe, simply visit our home page, www.newyorkfed.org/research/publication_annuals/index.html.

We look forward to hearing from you!

The New York Fed's Research Publications Staff

